Not putting the price on the card sounds like a good idea. I am meeting with Harry this afternoon to talk about price and we will send our considerations out to the committees for their vote. I'll keep you posted.

I also use amazon prime. Even though it's now $99/year, the two day free shipping is a major plus.

What shall we use for family swim passes and at what price?

I can do a separate business card size and it may be good to place the orders together.

We could also leave the price off the actual card, leaving flexibility.

Create a 5 swim punch card AND a Family Swim pass. Set pricing later.

I am a member of Amazon Prime if it more cost effective. We can get next day, or 2 day shipping also.

Thanks Steve---I think 20 for 5 swims works well. I like the card---I think we need to order them right away.

Thinking ahead to generating secure ballots with tamper proof paper, and getting punch-cards and season family swim cards.

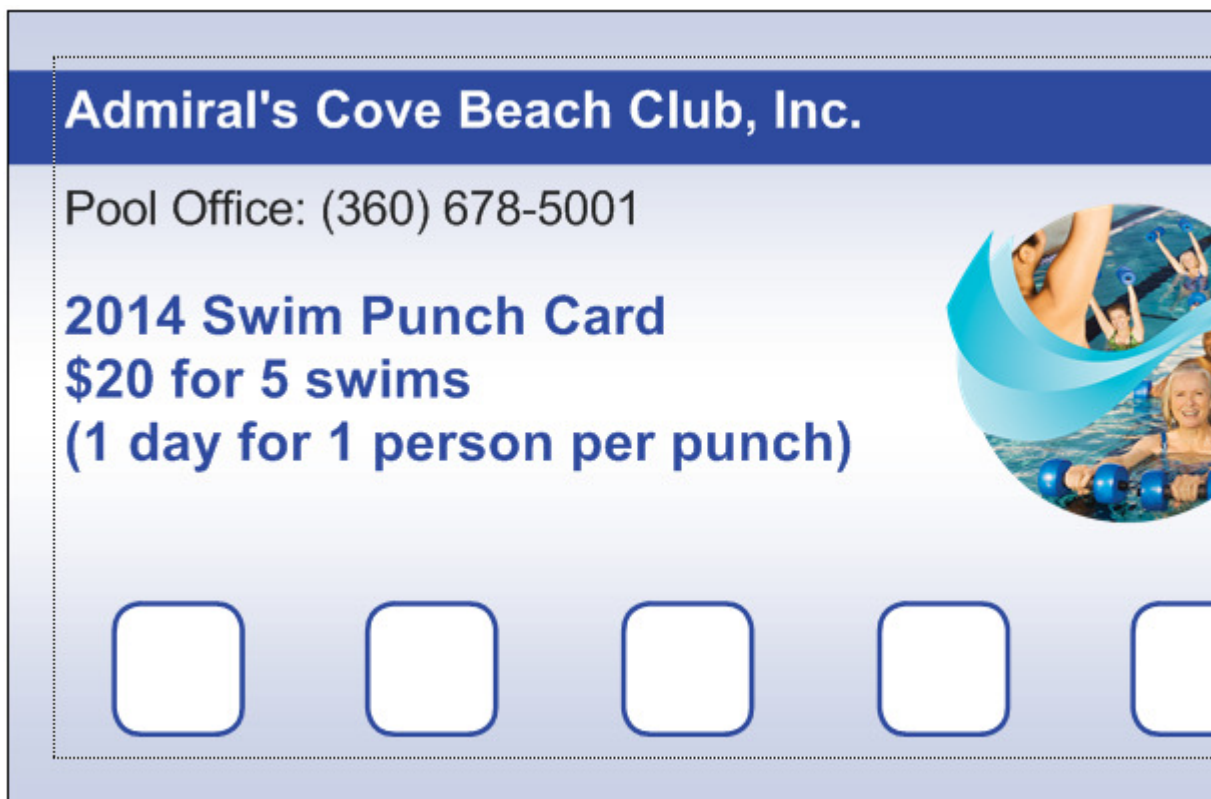

Here are my thoughts. We could also use a business card sized card for a season family pass, perhaps add family name and cove address in magic marker on the back at time of sale?

Your ideas? Shall we get purchases rolling?

We do need to agree on swim prices. We've kicked around $50 family swim pass, $20 - 5 swim punch card, $5 single swim.

Business card size punch card – we would need to decide on the cost. I used $20 for 5 swims on this. (The dotted line is not visible on the printed product). Cost: 250 for $11.99, 500 for $14.99 plus shipping and handling, availability about 2 weeks.

And for our ballots, secure tamper-proof paper? Through Amazon at $22.21/500 sheets delivered. We would need two reams:

DocuGard Security Paper, 8.5 x 11 Inches, Blue, 500 Sheets (04
